

Level up your skills with KPMG Gaming Faculty

Welcome to the Gaming Faculty – an educational institution dedicated to the online gambling sphere and delivered by leading industry practitioners

Who are we?

KPMG Learning Academy leverages on an extensive amount of subject matter expertise generated from years of experience and hands-on approach of its trainers, in a multi-disciplinary Big 4 consultancy firm. As a firm, we invest heavily in deepening our knowledge of our clients' industry sectors and technical issues. We actively contribute to industry debate through research projects, publications, articles, podcasts, conferences, and co-operation with industry associations.

KPMG recognises and understands the challenges and opportunities faced by remote gaming entities. Through the Gaming Faculty, we offer training solutions that meet the learning needs of staff and the dynamic nature of the gaming industry. Whether it is Compliance, Tax, IFRS reporting or ESG, we have the industry experts to assist you with your training requirements.

We have a leading team of subject matter experts who specialise in remote gaming across the globe, and who are in tune with what is happening in the industry in their local territories. This localised experience coupled alongside the regular sharing of knowledge and insight from other jurisdictions, allows for a significantly wide and diverse scale of specialist insight to be imparted onto our clients.

Gaming Industry Training Package

A bespoke training solution

Do your key function holders still need to meet the yearly MGA CPE requirements?

Are you looking for MLRO and Fraud training for your staff within the AML/CFT sphere?

Does your Finance team require training with preparing consolidated financial statements for a group of entities? Or perhaps brushing up on acquisition accounting?

Is your organisation embracing ESG principles and looking for ESG awareness training?

Are you looking to ensure your team remains ahead of the curve and establishes a competitive edge within the market?

KPMG's Gaming Training Package allows organisations to build their own training packages to expand the knowledge base of all employees. Our training challenges trainees to apply knowledge gained in training in practical ways within their work environment. The KPMG Gaming Faculty provides HR and L&D professionals with the peace of mind that while their staff's learning and development needs are met, knowledge is transferred to the benefit of the organisation.

How does it work?

- 01 Build your own training programme by choosing any combination of courses from the following clusters.
- 02 No limit on number of attendees per session.
- 03 Modes of delivery: face-to-face, online or hybrid.
- 04 Simple fee structure: sessions shorter than 3 hours €2,000; sessions longer than 3 hours €3,000.

Tailor made learning to address Accounting and Tax matters in the specific context of our Group. Common approach across all subgroups on specific matters. Having an in-house seminar is immensely helpful to harmonize approaches on the many shared topics such as Acquisition Accounting, Consolidation and VAT (Value Added Tax) Grouping, internally developed assets. Absolutely, happy about the quality of training and delivery by trainers.
